Abstract

The Change in United States Foreign Policy Towards Iraq from Diplomacy to Military Action

Areej Azem Mansour al-Zabin

Mu'tah University, 2006

This dissertation sheds light on U.S. foreign policy towards Iraq and explores the importance of Iraq and The Arabian Gulf to the United States and their influence on shaping the U.S. foreign policy towards Iraq in particular and the Middle East in general. In addition, the dissertation presents a clear view of the change in U.S. policy from diplomacy throughout the 1980's to military action in the years to follow.

Thus, this study examines the importance of the Gulf area to the World in general and the U.S. in particular which impelled the U.S. to adopt cooperative diplomatic policies throughout the eighties to guarantee the security of the Gulf in accordance with the U.S. standards, which resulted in a complete reversal of this policy: to escalation policies as well as military action. This happens as a result of regional and world change in the beginning of the nineties, which tempted the United States to total hegemony over the world stressing its sole control in all aspects.

Finally, this study deals with the reasons and the motives of the U.S. occupation of Iraq in 2003. The study concludes a number of findings, which explain the challenges and dangers imposed by this change in U.S. foreign policy on both regional and international levels.
